The Manchester Young Professionals Network Launches New Website

MYPN.org will provide local young professionals with an all-access pass to the YP community

Manchester, NH - The Manchester Young Professional Network is excited to announce the launch of its brand new website, www.mypn.org. The site will serve as a resource for local young professionals interested in becoming more connected to the Greater Manchester community through professional/personal development programs, community engagement activities, networking opportunities and more.

The upgraded site is a result of several months of analysis, design and programming to create a better alignment with the organization's brand and strategic objectives. MYPN.org has been updated with a fresh layout, and more intuitive navigation to more effectively communicate with local young professionals.

"I am excited about launch of our new website," says Preston Hunter, chairman of the Board of Directors for the Manchester Young Professionals Network. "The site will provide improved access to information about upcoming events and will function as the communication hub of our growing organization."

The site was designed to be more streamlined, and will be a continuous work in progress. The Manchester Young Professionals Network will consistently update the site with better resources and provide valuable information that will reinforce that Greater Manchester is a wonderful place to live, work and play.

"As the connection point for young workers in the Greater Manchester area, the new website will make it that much easier for young professionals to get involved with MYPN," says Kate Luczko, chairwoman-elect of the Board of Directors for the Manchester Young Professionals Network. "The more engaged young people we have involved, the more vibrant and successful the community as a whole will be."
